BENEDICTO XIII

Our Journey

When legendary Australian mountaineer Greg Mortimer and his adventurer wife, Margaret, first set their sights on the polar regions over 30 years ago, they got goosebumps. But not from the cold. Their passion for exploration and deep respect for remote environments led to the founding of Aurora Expeditions in 1991, built on the belief that travel can be a powerful force for positive change.

In 1997, Aurora Expeditions ventured into the Arctic for the first time, drawn to its vast, ice-covered landscapes, rich cultural history, and extraordinary wildlife. Since then, our connection to the region has only deepened. Today, we bring a pioneering spirit and a steadfast commitment to sustainability to every voyage.

By educating ourselves on the delicate balance of our 21st century world, we foster a greater understanding of the planet and inspire lasting ambassadors for its protection and preservation.

Today, we are a Certified B Corporation™, visiting all seven continents.

Should your next journey be with us, we promise an immersive, inspirational and profound experience – regardless of which corner of this incredible planet we explore together.

Our Commitment to This Incredible Planet

Responsible travel has remained at the heart of our business from the start. As a Certified B Corporation™, we proudly join a global movement of companies that meet rigorous standards of social and environmental impact, transparency, and accountability. This certification represents more than just a milestone; it's a testament to our ongoing commitment to doing business responsibly, guided by principles that prioritise people and the planet.

The B in B Corp stands for 'Benefit for all'. We strive to deliver voyages that have a minimal footprint while creating a positive impact on the extraordinary places we visit. Our journey reflects our dedication to the protection, regeneration and appreciation of Earth's natural wonders.

Climate Action

The urgency of the climate crisis demands bold and immediate action, and we are committed to being part of the solution. Since 2021, we have been tracking and measuring greenhouse gas emissions across our operations and supply chain. We are dedicated to reducing emissions and contributing to ocean regeneration. Through innovation in alternative fuel trials and support for projects that restore vital marine ecosystems and biodiversity, such as sea kelp and seagrass planting, we are proud to be driving meaningful progress towards a net zero future.

Resource Conservation and Circularity

Our focus is on responsible procurement, working with suppliers that align with our values. We also work to reduce waste and pollution by considering carefully the life cycles of the materials we use. Onboard our vessels, we purchase products in bulk and prioritise reusable items wherever possible. As part of our commitment to reducing single-use plastics, we offer reusable water bottles to passengers, which can be refilled at multiple stations throughout the vessel.

Protecting and Preserving Ecosystems

We believe that exploring nature comes with a responsibility to tread lightly. Whether walking through towns, hiking scenic trails or cruising along shorelines, we approach every journey with care and respect for the environments we encounter. Our team encourages mindful travel practices that help preserve the beauty and integrity of the places we visit, ensuring they can be enjoyed for generations to come.

Local Community Engagement

Fostering meaningful connections with communities is at the heart of our voyages. We collaborate with local guides and experts to offer passengers authentic experiences, enriching each journey with cultural depth and personal stories. We also celebrate the flavours of our destinations by sourcing ingredients from regional producers committed to natural and ethical farming.

Mediterranean & Atlantic Coast

Considered by early civilisations to be the centre of the ancient world, today the Mediterranean Sea shares its shoreline with 22 nations, while its eclectic mix of ports feed its reputation as a sailing mecca. Successive empires, countless invasions and vigorous trade routes have gifted this region a rich tapestry of traditions, cultures and peoples. Its shores abound with ruined cities, resort towns, popular beaches and colourful, cliffside villages. Immersive, educating and engaging, our voyages weave a tale of Europe's most impressive coastline – affectionately known to all who sail on her as the 'Med'.
